FOOTBALL'S 'OLYMPIC TORCH' VISITS KIRIBATI

From June 22nd until June 29th, The Ball, 'Football's Olympic Torch', will travel through Kiribati. The Ball is making its way around the globe from Battersea Park in London, where the first official football match was played, to Eden Park in Auckland, New Zealand, where the 2023 FIFA Women's World Cup will begin on July 20, 2023. It is in Kiribati to explore gender equality through football and to investigate how this football-mad country is dealing with the existential consequences of climate change.

As The Ball makes its way around the globe, it collects signatures from people who promise to support efforts to achieve gender equality and to take climate action. The team from the non-profit organisation Spirit of Football are the guardians of The Ball and have run 45 events and workshops that have been put on by 78 partner organisations kick-off on the 10th of July 2022 in London. So far more than 9000 people in 18 countries have signed The Ball and pledged to take action to make their communities stronger. Kiribati is country number 19 on the way to the 2023 FIFA Women's World Cup in New Zealand and Australia.

The Ball in Kiribati – climate change and gender equality focus

The Ball's visit to Kiribati, one of the countries most affected by climate change, is an opportunity to galvanize national efforts towards a consolidated climate action plan based on Spirit of Football's principles of fair play and teamwork. The focus is empowering local communities who are knowledgeable about the local climate challenges and how to address them. The concept of climate change custodians is not a new one, but in light of the increasing and widespread climate disasters the need to empower local custodians in a fun and innovative way is imperative. Spirit of Football will especially focus on women, who are often some of the most vulnerable to the effects of climate change.

Spirit of Football's team will be running workshops with the Kiribati Islands Football Federation (KIFF) and their partners that foster discussion about fairplay, gender equality and climate change with women, youth and indigenous people to explore the role football is already playing and how it can increase its part to help make a positive social and sustainable difference in Kiribati society.

The Ball in Kiribati is being supported the German Embassy in Wellington, New Zealand. German Special Envoy for the Pacific Island States, Ambassador Ms Beate Grzeski, is visiting Kiribati 26 - 29 June 2023 in order to gain a better understanding of the current situation, expectations and challenges in Kiribati, especially regarding climate change action. In this regard, Ms Grzeski said: "I am delighted that my visit to Kiribati coincides with the One Ball, One World program as it compliments my mission to bring Germany and the Pacific Island States closer together to address the shared challenges we face, most notably climate change. Football is an excellent example of how we can bring diverse actors together to achieve common goals. We only have this one world, and by working as a team, we can make a difference!"

The Kiribati Ports Authority (KPA) is also supporting The Ball in Kiribati. Chairman Betarim Rimon said: "We are supporting women in sports in Kiribati and to help Kiribati be seen in the global sport stage. This is one great opportunity to showcase to the world Kiribati being in the frontline of the climate change calamity."

The Ball 2023 is also supported by the Swedish Postcode Foundation and various local partners in Kiribati.

Prominent Supporters

The first person to sign The Ball on its 12-month global climate action and advocacy mission was Katie Rood, the professional footballer who plays for Hearts FC and the New Zealand National Team had this to say:

"Everyone loves the World Cup, but if we are to be able to continue playing it in the future, we need collective and urgent climate action. The journey of The Ball across land and sea from London to New Zealand is an opportunity for football to get its environmental act in order. I am going to take action. Are you?"

Spirit of Football's Ambassador and Liverpool F.C. manager Jürgen Klopp is also supporting The Ball: "It is a ball for us all. Be part of our team. Everyone can play. Respect your teammates, your opponents and the environment. One Ball, One World."

Background, Contact and Further Information

This is The Ball's 6th journey to the FIFA World Cup and the first journey to the FIFA Women's World Cup. Its previous five journeys all went to the FIFA Men's World Cup. To find out more about those journeys go here: <https://www.theball.tv>

The Ball was presented in cooperation with the United Nations UNFCCC at COP 27 in Egypt in November 2022: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lRHtxL5wzjl>

Supported by the FIFA Foundation and the Swedish Postcode Foundation, Spirit of Football developed and tested educational resources with our partners Pledgeball and Football for Future focusing on sustainability and football from March to June 2022.

SOF has been using these resources running workshops on its gender equality, sustainability and climate action tour that began in London in July 2023. The Ball is being carried (and kicked) by a team of educators from Spirit of Football who are delivering workshops and running an advocacy campaign. Spirit of Football is a partner of Festival 23 – the youth festival being organised by Football United (and Common Goal) in Sydney, Australia in August 2023.
